

Alison Weir: "Statistical Analysis of Media Bias: Not Just a Matter of Opinion"

Start: Oct 21 2006 - 3:00pm

Journalist Alison Weir is the executive director of "If Americans Knew," an organization dedicated to providing Americans with information on topics of importance that are misreported or under-reported in the American media, with a special focus on the Middle East. Alison spent a month traveling alone throughout Gaza and the West Bank as a freelance journalist, and speaks throughout the country on the Israeli-Palestinian conflict. In her presentation she describes her experiences in the West Bank and Gaza Strip, shows her slides of the area, gives a brief sketch of the history of the conflict, and describes her organization's detailed studies of American press coverage of the area and her meetings with editors at newspapers across the country.

Sponsored by United for Peace & Justice and Iranians for Peace and Justice.

Location:

Parr Library
6200 Windhaven Parkway
Plano, TX
United States